Terry Contracting was formed in 1986 as an excavation and site work company. As we have grown, our expertise has expanded from the original site work focus to a strong resume of marine and environmental projects as well. Our core values have not changed over the last twenty years, which is to provide a quality project at a reasonable price. While we have taken on some of the most challenging projects in these areas we take pride in the fact that that we have always found a way to successfully complete these jobs. Please browse this web site to learn more about our firm and feel free to call us to discuss your upcoming projects. Site Work Marine Construction Environmental Remediation
